Preamble

The College of Medicine seeks to ensure maximum communication between the College Faculty and the College and the University’s Administration. The purpose of the COM by-laws is to define a set of procedures by which faculty can identify and effectively contribute to the affairs of the College and to provide a means by which the faculty can fulfill their shared governance responsibility including the determination of certain matters, defined and agreed upon by the Trustees, relating to academic policy, including matters of curriculum and tenure and promotion. The College of Medicine is organized by department, each led by a Chair who reports to the Dean of the College. The Dean is the University’s agent for the execution of the College’s mission. The department chair is the faculty’s agent for execution of the department’s mission. As part of the College, the Faculty Council provides a formal structure for communication between the College’s Faculty and the College’s Leadership as well as across all academic and clinical units of the College. Realizing that this structure exists to foster communication and realizing the dynamic nature of our academic, clinical, and research missions, the structure outlined in the Bylaws will, from time to time, need to be modified. The Faculty Council shall be organized to obtain direct representative input from each of the College’s departments. The Faculty Council shall have the authority to call meetings of the Faculty, to preside at such meetings, and to serve or to have its representatives serve as members or ex officio members of the standing committees of the College and the Health Science Center.
ARTICLE I—STRUCTURE OF THE FACULTY COUNCIL

The Faculty Council carries out its mission through three levels:
A. The Steering Committee (Officers)
B. The Faculty Policy Boards
C. Liaisons to other COM and University committees.

ARTICLE II—MEETINGS, TERMS, ELECTIONS AND PROCEDURES

Section 1: Meetings
A. Running of Meetings: The President, or in the President’s absence, the President-Elect or Past President, shall preside at all general monthly meetings of the Faculty Council, Steering Committee meetings, and shall serve as the representative to the Executive Committee of the College of Medicine. If the President, Past President, and the President-Elect are absent, the Vice President shall preside or attend at the meetings.
B. Council Meetings: The Faculty Council meets monthly. The Faculty Council shall meet additionally by the call of the Faculty Council president or on the written request of any five members of said Council. The meeting schedule is found on the Faculty Council Web site and will be posted no less than two weeks before any official meeting and one week before any emergency meeting.
C. Council Meeting Voting: The faculty in attendance shall constitute a quorum. A majority vote will be defined as fifty percent plus one member in attendance.
D. Council Meeting absence and alternate: Any elected departmental representative, if unable to attend a Faculty Council meeting, should select an alternate from the department to attend the meeting as a voting participant.

Section 2: Terms
A. Officer Limits: No officer, having served a full term, shall succeed himself or herself in the same office. Rarely, an officer may serve one extra year for unusual circumstances (to balance the rotation of officers or to replace an officer resigning mid-term. A majority vote of Faculty Council members and officers is needed to confirm the changes.
B. Resignation of an Officer: If an officer (Vice President, Secretary or Treasurer) resigns his/her position, nominations and an election can be held at any time to fill the remainder of year and for a 3 year term. If the Past President resigns, no election needs to be held. If the President Elect resigns, there are two options. During the first 6 months of the term, nominations and election may be held for a new President Elect, who will assume the President’s office at the normal time. During the last 6 months of the term, nominations and an election for new President Elect should be held, but the President Elect will not assume the President position until January 1 for a 1.5 year term, with the current President serving 1.5 years and the Past President serving 1.5 years. Either option must be approved by a majority vote of the Faculty Council. Finally, if the President resigns during their term, the Vice President or the Past President can finish the term as President with a supportive majority vote from the Faculty Council.
C. Membership: The Faculty Council consists of one elected representative from each department, and ex-officio members, which include the Dean or his/her designate(s). The Dean or designee is not a voting member of the Faculty Council. From the Faculty, four officers (President, Vice President, Treasurer and Secretary) shall be elected for three year terms. The President serves for 3 years as the President Elect, President and Past President successively. Officers may... continue to be current department representatives or step down, allowing their department to elect a new representative. Departments Epidemiology and Biostatistics that residing in both PHHP and COM are expected to have one COM FC representative each.

Section 3: Elections
A. Officer Elections: An electronic ballot, organized by the Steering Committee and sent by the faculty council administrative staff to the COM faculty at large as per Article IV, shall be circulated no later than May 1, and used to elect the officers. Elections will conclude no earlier than May 15. The results of the election will be announced to the COM Faculty by email and posted on the COM Faculty website http://facultycouncil.med.ufl.edu/. The new officers’ terms begin immediately following the June Faculty Council Meeting in order to plan the activities for July. The nominees for officer positions receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected.

B. Department Representative Elections: The departmental representatives are elected at the departmental level by departmental faculty. Departmental representatives shall serve a three-year term. The terms shall be staggered by electing one-third of the representatives each year on a 3 year rotation. Representatives’ terms start immediately after the June Faculty Council Meeting. If a department representative seat becomes open, departments may call an election and fill the remaining term at any time during the year. Each member of the faculty shall be entitled to vote for the approval of their own departmental representative. The results of the elections will be announced to the COM faculty by email and posted on the COM Faculty Council website. The new representatives’ terms begin immediately after the June Faculty Council Meeting. There are no term limits on department representatives.

C. Tie votes: In the event of a tie in the election for a Faculty Council Officer, the Faculty Council President shall cast the deciding vote. Departmental tie votes are to be settled within the department. Faculty Council recommends to the department a new vote.
